Legion Condemns Method Of Hiring By School Board

Aurora—At the regular May meeting, Aurora Branch Canadian Legion 385, B.E.S.L., went on record as condemning the actions of the Aurora public school board for its manner of making appointments to the staff without first following the democratic principle of open competition, and preference being given to a veteran, all other things being equal.

The Legion members were reminded that following the appointment of the town clerk in May, 1946, letters were sent to all public bodies in Aurora requesting that where vacancies occurred, all things being equal, a veteran should be shown preference. The Aurora town council, the Aurora Hydro-Electric Commission, and the Aurora high school board have advertised positions vacant, and veterans have been given consideration, and in some cases appointed. In others a more highly qualified person obtained the position.

A statement from Legion officials read in part: "In the matter of appointing a new principal, and previous to that a music supervisor, the methods used by the Aurora public school board indicate there is no desire on their part to throw open the positions to all qualified, and the undue haste used in making the appointments in both instances leads to the conclusion that a pre-conceived plan was followed by the board members."

The Aurora Branch, Canadian Legion, challenges the school board on the appointments made, not with the idea of dictating either to the board or the community, or of attacking the ability of the persons appointed, but as a duty which we owe to our fellow citizens in preserving the principles of living for which many of our comrades

LEGION BRANCHES URGE 'OPEN' CHOICE

Canadian Legion branches throughout North York, meeting at Richmond Hill, unanimously passed a resolution condemning the haste with which many public posts are filled and the lack of support given, ex-service personnel by municipal councils and school boards. The resolution, moved by Comrade Waterworth (Woodbridge) and seconded by Comrade Smith (Sutton), and adopted by all branch representatives read:

"That this zone goes on record as disapproving the growing tendency among municipal councils and boards in making appointments without first following the democratic principle of open competition so that all interested or qualified persons may have ample notice of such vacancies and have a reasonable opportunity to apply. It appears that little consideration is being given veterans in making such appointments and that the generally accepted principle of preference to active service personnel, all other things being equal, is being ignored."

Campaign For Greek Aid Opens In Newmarket June 1

Newmarket—Alex Georgas, chairman of the Canadian Relief to Greece appeal for Newmarket, says, "There have been many appeals to Canadians in the name of worthy causes in recent months. But few could be more worthy than this campaign which hopes to supply medical equipment and supplies to our small ally to treat and succor millions of her people."

"The Canadian Relief to Greece Appeal," continued Mr. Georgas, "commences on June 1 and will be climaxed by a general canvass and tag day on June 7 on which day the campaign will close in Newmarket."

"The Canadian fund will bring aid to the citizens of tomorrow—the children of whom half a million are tubercular cases and will provide further treatment for two million malaria victims and for over 50,000 disabled veterans," he said.

"By our contributions, six permanent health centres giving free treatment to the rural population; mobile medical units bringing aid to isolated places; ten mobile x-ray units for the proper diagnosis of tuberculosis among the entire population; nine mobile dental units and cancer x-ray machines and supplies will be provided."

"Remember these freedom loving Greeks and their 375,000 orphans to whom home is at best an overcrowded shelter and send your money donations to R. D. Brown of the Bank of Montreal, H. E. Lambert of the Bank of Toronto or to Mrs. Alex. Georgas at the King George hotel," he urged.

MAJOR TAYLOR MAKES MAY 24 DOUBLE FETE

AURORA NEWS PAGES 9, 12

Aurora—Aurora's "grand old man", Major W. H. Taylor, celebrated his 84th birthday on May 24 and on his natal day felt better in health than he has been for some months. The oldest Orangeman and Mason in the district by years of membership, if not in years, he looks forward to celebrating the Glorious 12th at Richmond Hill and also to casting another Progressive-Conservative vote against the King government.

This year, for the first time in many years, he will not make the annual Aurora assessment but he continues in office as division court clerk, the oldest in Ontario, as a Grand Lodge officer of the Grand chapter R.B.P., as a trustee of the Loyal True Blue Orphanage and as county secretary of the Orange Order. He is one of the few remaining veterans of the North-West Rebellion and continues to keep an active interest in the affairs of his old regiment, the Queen's York Rangers, the cadet movement and the Canadian Legion. Most of the members of his family were home for the weekend to celebrate the occasion.

REV. BOUDREAU INDUCTED AT ST. ANDREW'S

Newmarket—Rev. M. E. R. Boudreau, formerly of Atwood, was inducted last night into the pastoral charge of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Newmarket, by officials of the Presbytery of Toronto. Rev. R. G. McKay, Woodbridge, Moderator of the Presbytery, conducted the public worship. Sermon was preached by Rev. Jas. F. Donald, B.D., Bolton. The interim moderator, Rev. Alex. McLean, Wiltondale, addressed the minister and the congregation. At the close of the service, the newly inducted minister and his wife were introduced to the members and adherents by J. Dalton Faris, clerk of session, assisted by Mrs. R. D. McDonald and Mrs. W. M. Cockburn.

Mr. Boudreau was born in St. Hyacinthe, Que., where his father, Rev. M. F. Boudreau, was minister of St. John's French Presbyterian church. He spent his boyhood in Quebec City. He is of Huguenot ancestry, his forebears having been driven out of Paris at the time of the massacre of St. Bartholomew's Eve.

Rev. Boudreau is a graduate in arts of Queen's University majoring in political economy, and in theology with a B.D. degree in church history at Knox College where he took two scholarships in public speaking. He is also a post graduate of Temple University, Philadelphia, from which institution he received his S.T.D. degree. Prior to his college career, he graduated from Ottawa Normal school and taught for two years at Pine Orchard. His hobbies are music and drawing.

His wife at the time of her marriage lived in Toronto and sang in the choir of the Church of the Epiphany, Parkdale. She was also in charge of the Girl Guides in the district. Their daughter, Marlene, is attending Stratford Normal school and in the autumn, will take a position in the Brantford City public school teaching staff (grade 2). Lunch was served following the induction, Mrs. J. D. Faris and Mrs. Alex. Miller pouring tea.

SIX-YEAR-OLD RUNS FATHER'S TRACTOR

Out Davis Dr. there is a six-year-old boy who steers a tractor about with the best of them. Roden Rutledge can't reach the starter with his feet so he starts the tractor by hand as shown in the top picture. Bottom, Roden guns his tractor preparatory to starting his plowing. Photos by Budd.

'You Get Off, Grandad Let Me Try It,' Said Roden

Newmarket—Not many six-year-olds run home from school so they can help with the farm work, but Roden Rutledge, a first grade pupil at Alexander Muir public school, does. Roden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rutledge, have a farm on Davis Dr. E., and this spring they bought a new tractor plow. Roden has learned to handle it like a veteran, and accompanied only by his dog, "X", has already cultivated almost 20 acres of ground in his "spare" time after school.

Roden is the pride and joy of his grandfather, Alex. Rutledge, who swears that nobody showed the youngster how to operate the tractor. "He just learned from watching," Mr. Rutledge, Sr., says. "We had told him that only one man can be on the tractor at a time. One night he came home from school and I was harrowing. He asked me if he could get on with me, and I told him again that only one man can drive a tractor. He said 'Well then you get off, granddad.' He's been driving the tractor ever since. When he comes home at night, if no one is using the tractor, he runs into the garage, backs it out, brings it down through the gate into the field and starts to work. He can harrow, plow, and cultivate as well as any of us now."

Roden wears a cap exactly like that of his grandfather when he is working. Roden says that he would rather drive the tractor than eat. "Whenever he goes, however, X goes too. 'We gave the dog away three times, but he came back every time,' Mr. Rutledge says. 'I guess we'll have to keep him now.'"

Roden starts the tractor with his right hand because his legs are not long enough to reach the starter, but otherwise he drives the same as any adult. In addition to his work in the fields he has a pigeon loft with a flock of pigeons, and he helps feed the chickens and do other farm chores. "We haven't decided whether to send him to the plowing matches or not," Mr. Rutledge, Sr., says. "He's got to do his school work too, you know."

COUPON SALESMAN SENTENCED BY COUNTY

Newmarket—Chief Constable Ronald Watt said Monday that he had received the official report on the trial of Allen Carr, alias Sullivan, who was convicted in Toronto recently of victimizing scores of York County residents, including residents of Newmarket and Sutton, by selling bogus photograph coupons.

According to Chief Watt, the report said that Carr had pleaded guilty to 21 charges of obtaining money by false pretenses and had received concurrent sentences of six months on each charge. Nine of the 21 charges were laid by Newmarket police, eight by York County police and four by Oakville police.

Carr was also convicted of theft charges which had been laid by police of East York and Scarborough, Chief Watt said. Magistrate O. Martin presided at the trial.

MANY ASSIST IN WORK AT LOBLAW SITE

Newmarket—A record attendance is being chalked up these days by the members of the Newmarket Association of Sidewalk Superintendents, as the two excavation projects continue. The Main St. excavation at the site of the new Loblaw's building seems to have stolen the limelight, however, and only a few of the members are now showing much interest in the smaller one in front of Dr. L. W. Dales' residence.

According to one of the usually well informed members, who claims that he had his little finger in the deal but who prefers to remain anonymous, the new Loblaw's store will have a 60' frontage on Main St. and will be about 85' deep. John W. Bowsie, Aurora builder, has the contract for the building, the layout of which will be similar to the super markets in Toronto. Our informant also hazarded the guess that there will be either living accommodation in the form of apartments or office accommodation above the store, although official sources have made no comment on the suggestion.

Official sources were likewise silent on the type of material to go into the building, but "solid brick" is the guess of one observer. The only information that seems at all definite is that the store will have the modern Loblaw front.

The sidewalk superintendents gathered across the street from the Loblaw site for a short time on Tuesday to superintend the installation of the windows at Fines' Jewelry Store. The windows had been broken a week earlier by Gordon Burch's truck and had been boarded up since.

Free Chest X-Ray For Newmarket As Check Against T.B.

Newmarket—"Every case of pulmonary tuberculosis that exists is a possible source of infection for others. The reason that we are so anxious to have this survey is that tuberculosis can exist without the individual being aware of it," Dr. J. Gordon Cock, chairman of the Newmarket board of health, said on Monday.

Dr. J. G. Cock, chairman of the board of health, said on Monday. "The only way of finding early tuberculosis is a chest x-ray such as the Gage Institute is offering when it conducts its survey here."

Arrangements have been made for a public meeting in the Newmarket town hall on June 3, at which time A. S. Patterson, field secretary of the National Sanitarium Association, will speak on T.B. and T.B. surveys, following which the Gage Institute will conduct a survey here in July.

"The survey will be done at absolutely no cost to the individual," Dr. Cock continued. "It will be sponsored by the National Sanitarium Association and financed by the sale of Christmas seals across the country. It is important to find T.B. before it is so obvious that it can be found by physical examination, because when T.B. is that far advanced, the individual concerned will have to spend months, sometimes years, in a sanitarium," he continued.

Dr. Cock said there are two kinds of tuberculosis, pulmonary and bovine. "Bovine is the kind that has its source in improperly pasteurized milk and it can be controlled to a large degree by proper pasteurization. It is communicable or even particularly dangerous. But the human type, or pulmonary tuberculosis, is communicable and ranks seventh in this country as a cause of death.

In the age group between 15 and 35 tuberculosis ranks as the greatest cause of death in the dominion. We are therefore particularly anxious that everyone in that age group be x-rayed."

Dr. Cock explained that tuberculosis in children under preschool age was extremely rare and that the survey would therefore not include them. "In 1945, the incidence of sanitarium cases of T.B. in Canada was 28 per 100,000 population," he said. "In any survey like this, from four to six sanitarium cases will be turned up and about 15 people in each 1,000 x-rayed will be called for recheck because something else is found—an old pleurisy, an enlarged heart or an inactive T.B. Such cases should have a check-up in from three to six months."

No Sky Rockets May 24? Government Says No Sale

Newmarket—Have you been wondering why you were not deafened this year by strategically placed firecrackers? Do you know why you didn't have to duck a sky rocket barrage?

"The only reason that Saturday was any quieter than the May 24's of other years was that we were not allowed to sell sky rockets and crackers themselves are still unobtainable," Elman Campbell said. "Before the war, the crackers were made in the homes of the Chinese peasants and were distributed by the Japanese. The war cut off that source of supply and it has not been re-opened yet. A point of interest here is that with all our western civilization, we did not know about gunpowder until about the year 1400, whereas the Chinese knew a great deal about it 1,000 years before that time. "When we could no longer get firecrackers and were not allowed to sell sky rockets, we were left without any real noise makers to sell. However, we sold out all of the other fireworks and could have sold more if we had had them."

Mrs. G. Myers said that she had also sold out her stock of fireworks. "What we lost in the sale of crackers and sky rockets, we gained in the sale of the other fireworks," she said.

Police reported that, as far as they knew, it was the quietest May 24 in years with no casualties or trouble of any sort reported and hospital authorities said that no treatment was given for injuries from fireworks.

PREMIER DREW SEEKS NEW CANADIANS

Premier Drew is reported to feel there is a "fair chance" of having 5,000 Britons in Ontario by harvest time. Mr. Drew has been in England where he has been doing his best to facilitate the movement of British immigrants to Ontario which, he says, can absorb 10,000 on farms, 40,000 in the bush, thousands more in the mines.

Coincidental with Mr. Drew's efforts in Britain, the Edinburgh Scotsman published an editorial round-up of the reaction of the Scottish newspapers to proposals for large-scale migrations of British youth to Canada and other members of the Commonwealth. The Edinburgh Evening Dispatch says that migration from Britain can be ill afforded at a time when every effort is being made to rebuild the country.

On the other hand, The Glasgow Evening News says: "Our aim should be to put all possible shipping at their (the emigrants') disposal, both to help them and to help the Dominions clamoring for skilled people. Britain will not sink to a second rate power, but the Commonwealth will grow in prestige and power, in wealth and in security, and in the indefinable family spirit that binds it together."

To us, it appears purely a matter of wherein lies the greater need. If Britain can spare its workers, then they will be surely welcome in Canada. If Britain needs all its available manpower, then it is hardly practical to rob it of that national resource.

Certainly, there is no doubt of the need for additional men and women in Canada. What is often overlooked is that England is not the only source for immigration. Canada can assimilate large numbers of New Canadians without losing its traditional loyalty to the Commonwealth. That fact was proven during the recent war. Canada was performing a real service in the name of humanity if some refuge were given to the hundreds of thousands of homeless in Europe.

ONE-SYLLABLE WORDS ONLY, PLEASE

The National Program office of the CBC has sent out a series of pointers to would-be radio speakers. Among other things, the CBC advises radio speakers to "use the diction you would employ when talking to a child." The CBC hastens to add that it intends no slur on the intelligence of the audience. "We are merely pointing out the limitations of radio as a method of transmitting ideas."

Another aspect of radio speaking that is stressed is that it is important for the speaker to repeat the main points in his arguments and to do so without being obvious. "Repetition is an important device to make facts register," the CBC advises.

Well, there you are. All radio can transmit is one-syllable words and each new idea must be repeated if it is to stay in the minds of the audience. Much is said about the competition between radio and newspapers, but as long as the airwaves are so limited, the newspapers have little to fear.

SHADOWS OVER WORLD TRADE

In previous editorials on the subject, we said that an exchange crisis was pending. Recent reports from England, and the confidential treasury talks in Canada bear this out. England's dollar position is extremely serious. Canada is also concerned because of its economic ties to the Old Country — as indeed is every nation to a varying degree.

Briefly, England is running out of United States dollars as is Canada where United States imports continue to soar while Canadian exports remain at the same level. The American loan to Britain is proving inadequate for its purpose and all indications suggest that England will not be able to move on its own power as had been intended when the loan was exhausted.

Various reasons are offered for this lamentable condition. England's snow and floods which retarded domestic production, the slower rate of recovery in Europe, the heavy drain on meagre resources of occupational and similar costs. All have contributed. Rising prices in the United States have not been the least of these factors.

In Canada, it has been a case of export on credit to England and other European nations while importing from the United States and paying cash. It is not a procedure that can be long maintained. What the answer will be is anyone's guess—but there is no escaping the fact that the answer will have to be found and found soon or a world trade slump will follow.

One possibility is that America institute a peacetime lend-lease of financial favors to Europe and England. If American export markets can thus be kept alive until their economy has been stabilized, America is assured of a market for its exports. If no such aid is forthcoming, and if, as all indications point, there is a collapse of international trade, America loses its markets, and must wait out a protracted period of recovery. Of the two, the former would be the cheaper in the long run.

SUMMER TRAFFIC INCREASES HAZARDS

From all the evidence, it looks as if Lake Simcoe is about to enjoy its heaviest season. That means the highways to and from the lake will be taxed to capacity. With the heavy increase in traffic, there will be an increase in the risk to the traveller.

There should be no need to warn against careless driving. The results point the moral only too well. Yet if this summer follows its predecessors, there will be traffic mishaps aplenty. Many of these accidents will occur on the third concession of East Gwillimbury between Newmarket and the lake.

A two-lane highway, hilly in part; a highway which carries a heavy load of night drivers anxious to either reach their cottage on a Friday night or their home on a Sunday night. That combination is a natural for collectors of statistics on traffic accidents. Add to it the refusal of many drivers to dim their lights for oncoming cars and the hazards are greatly increased.

Daytime travel at a slower rate of speed between Newmarket and Lake Simcoe will do much to reduce the chances of an accident. Death or injury are hardly fit companions for a vacationist.

U.K. MOVIES INVADE U.S. MARKETS

Since its inception, the American movie industry has enjoyed a virtual monopoly over what appears on the screens of Canadian theatres. Thus Canadians have been treated to films inspired by Hollywood's ideas of what is fitting, and the restricted by Hollywood opinion of the intelligence of movie audiences.

Canadians have had little chance to be critical. Seeing nothing but the Hollywood product, they have had little opportunity to judge its real worth. So it is pleasing to mark the heavier volume of British pictures, and their wider distribution in Canada. Many of the films so far have put Hollywood to shame.

British producers do not assume, as do Hollywood producers, that the intelligence of their audience is on the level of a moron's. Nor do British producers feel they must rewrite their plots. We read that Hollywood has purchased the rights to this best-seller or that, but when the finished product reaches the screen, the content of the book has been completely changed in accordance with Hollywood's own limited idea of what constitutes a satisfying story. About all that remains is the title.

On the other hand, Canadians have seen two faithful reproductions of George Bernard Shaw's plays, Major Barbara and Pygmalion, and Canadian distribution of Shakespeare's Henry V is pending. Even Dickens has been filmed with all its original flavor.

Whether British films will maintain their present standards is open to question. As long as they do, they are a potent threat to Hollywood. At the least, the British producers have shown that movie making can be more than the mass production of Hollywood glamor.

ATOM BOMB RAISES NO NEW ISSUES

Some of the scientists who were employed on the atom bomb project now talk as if their work were the same as loading a 12-gauge shotgun for an infant to play with. Man, they state, hasn't come to the age when he can be safely entrusted with atomic energy with its terrible potential for destruction.

It is difficult to square this sort of talk with a realistic appraisal of what the discovery of atomic energy means. The scientists leave the impression that hitherto unknown issues have been raised which man is unable to cope with. Such is not the case.

The atom development has not created new problems. Rather, it has underscored the existing ones, added its own note of urgency to the need for their solution. It has not required the atom bomb to make obvious the fact that civilization can not endure a third world war. The possibility of the use of atomic weapons has merely added a new variety to the ways in which civilization could be doomed.

Men have grappled with international problems, sought unceasingly for their solution when atomic energy was only an untested formula. Atomic development has not materially affected geographical and economical relations between nations. It has not given any one nation a long-range advantage over the others. As scientists tell us that all the major powers will have the answer to atomic energy inside of three years or so. Least of all has it affected the conflict in ideologies which is the greatest single threat to a lasting peace.

Atomic development has added new weapons to man's arsenal. It can be used for war or for peace. In that, it is no different than any other development, from germ warfare to radar. The superstitious attitudes towards atomic energy which are being fostered, wittingly or not, turn our eyes from the real issue, the reconciliation of international problems of geography, economy and ideology.

What Others Think (Swift Current Sun)

Whenever the talk gets around to the high cost of living, someone is almost sure to chip in, "But look at all the profit the big companies are making."

The best place to look into company profits is in the statistical summary of the Bank of Canada. Here a continuous record of over 700 Canadian companies has been kept since 1936. The continuous survey includes all sorts of business and industry. In 1937 this group reported $285 millions net income available for dividends. Only once in the following eight years to 1945, the last year for which complete figures are available, was that figure ever exceeded. That was in 1941 when $300 millions were reported.

During the last three years of the war more than half the net profits of the 700-odd companies in the survey went to the dominion government in taxes.

At best net profits paid to shareholders only account for a few cents of the consumer's dollar. Compared with other costs that enter into the price of goods, taxes and labor, for instance, the proportion properly charged to profits is negligible.

Miss Amelia Bond, Willowdale, spent May 24 with her aunt, Mrs. Stirling, on Queen St.

TO THE EDITOR

The editor, Era and Express: The residents of Andrew and Eagle Sts. signed a petition about three years ago asking the council to open Church St. right through to Eagle St. It would mean an easier access to three churches and one school, as well as relieving the congestion of traffic on Main St. Traffic could travel north from Eagle St. right through to Millard Ave.

No slums would be caused as there would be a street running down the old trolley right of way and it would be of less expense to the taxpayers. The extension of Church St. can be carried out much cheaper and easier now than in ten or 15 years. It should be done now to improve the west side of Newmarket. This is what the taxpayers advocate.

- Around Town -

About the men and women you meet around town almost everyday.

In 1870, the name "Little Bros." became internationally known when Young Wonder, a stallion owned by Thomas and John Little, won first prize for the best Canadian bred draft stallion and a gold medal as the best draft stallion competing against all classes at the centennial exhibition at Philadelphia. Nine years later Tom's son, John Orr Little, then 19, confused an election by casting a ballot while still legally under age. Since then the name Little has been connected with everything from duplex envelopes to the Newmarket Citizens' Band.

J. O. LITTLE

John Orr Little, now 81, was born on lot 9, 5th line of East Caledon, "on the roughest, stoniest farm in the County of Peel, at 3 o'clock in the morning." While J. O. was still a young lad, his father moved to the Little homestead, south of Mono road; to the Hewitt farm at Sandham and in '78, to the hillcrest farm, Chinguacousy, lot 22, 4th line east. John Orr entered the "behind the plow" university at the age of 13.

It was in 1876, too, that John Orr listened to his first political speech, when he heard John Hilliard Cameron speaking on the national policy. It has been politically active, "but always for the other fellow," ever since. In 1885 he cast his first vote for Alex. Cunningham who was running for reeve against his nephew, Robert Kee. Cunningham was elected by three votes but Kee decided to demand a recount because he knew that young John had voted. But Thomas Little was a diplomat. "He got Mr. Kee to abandon his intentions when he persuaded Mr. Cunningham to make Mr. Kee the township clerk—a position that he held until his death," J. O. says.

On the farm, J. O. made a specialty of Clydesdale horses, Shorthorn cattle, Cotswold sheep and Yorkshire hogs. "My father and his brother, John, were known in Peel County as 'the Little Bros.' in the horse business," J. O. says. "When my uncle died, his son, John, took over his partnership. Then my father retired and I took over his. My cousin and I continued in the business as the Little Bros. and we owned such stallions as What's Wanted, Lochinch, Lofly III, Silent James, Freedom, Macintyre, Glen Willie, Southern Cross, Westfield Stamp, Just In Time and last but not least, Emulator."

Enters Coal Business

In 1906, J. O. married Ida R. Nelson and in 1910 he bought a coal business on Mono Road. He sold the farm at Hillcrest two years later and took charge of the coal business. In 1923 he sold the coal business, left Mono Road and went to Toronto, weighing 215 pounds. "In Toronto I had everything but a baby," he said. "I spent Christmas, 1923, in Grace hospital, Detroit, and came to Newmarket in the spring of 1924 walking on two sticks and weighing 160 pounds."

He bought Dan Williamson's coal business in 1924 and he operated it until 1942. His first wife passed away in 1926 and he married Flossie S. Moore in 1928.

J. O. was a town councillor for many years and he also served as deputy-reeve. He was, in fact, the only deputy-reeve of one county ever to be elected warden. He was a member of the school board in Peel for three years. He is a past district deputy of Toronto District 13, A.F. and A.M., and he was a master of the Orange Lodge here for some time. He is also a life member of Ionia 83, Orangeville, a life member of Peel Lodge, A.F. and A.M., a member of Ionia Lodge and a member of the Lions Club. Also a Scottish rite at Barrie.

J. O. is an Anglican and has been a warden of St. Mark's church, Sandhill, St. Mary's church, Tallmore, St. James' church, Caledon East, and St. Paul's church in Newmarket. He was made a warden at St. Mark's when he was only 18. With T. Mortimer and J. Y. V. Ormsby, J. O. assisted in the introduction of the duplex envelope system into the rural parishes and because of this he was made a member of the duplex envelope system of the Anglican church senate.

Lawn bowling, fishing and curling are his hobbies and he "likes a horse race, too." His main interest at the moment, however, is the Newmarket Citizens' Band. His only official position in the band is that of "spare drummer" but he is its biggest booster. "There are 33 members of the citizens' band itself," J. O. says. "In addition there are ten juniors who can play well enough to sit in the senior citizens' band if the occasion requires. There are 18 juniors outside of these ten who are playing nicely and six juniors who are junior to the 18. Robert Moore, the bandmaster, therefore actually teaches three bands.

Band Assistance

"It is my fondest hope that the day will come when the council will have the power to assess one mill on the dollar for musical work. We have collected for and own over $2,500 worth of instruments; we have 32 uniforms valued at $50 each; and we still need more instruments and some kind of uniform for the junior boys. All of the money to date has been raised by private subscription. H. J. Luck was chairman of the last campaign," he continued.

"I take such an interest in the junior band because it is necessary in order to keep a senior band, to have juniors coming to fill the vacancies which are bound to occur. All of the orchestras in town got their start in the Newmarket band and we are proud of them all. For that reason I think that the band is the most important form of a musical training that any boy can have. Newmarket has never given the co-operation to the band that it should have. The people do not realize its benefits. The boys who are playing in the bands will be playing in the orchestras in the years to come. I would like to call on the parents of every boy who has an instrument to see that he practices his scales at home and attends the regular practices. I would further like to invite the parents down to the hall to hear Mr. Moore give the boys their instruction. If the parents would realize that we have the best bandmaster in Canada to teach the boys, perhaps we would get more co-operation."

J. O.'s political experiences have been so numerous and varied that it would be impossible to begin to record them, but he says that he never got five cents out of politics or out of graft—"it has been offered to me but I never took it. My hands have always remained clean," he says.

"One of my best teachers throughout life was my father who instilled in me the beliefs that there are three things that I should never quarrel over, politics, religion and a game of cards; that I should never sue a man if I could possibly get out of it; that I should put every man on his honor and trust him once. The last advice was not good, and although in business I never sued a man, it cost me plenty."

'Hunting, Fishing Dandy' Ken. Widdifield Writes

Newmarket—In a letter written by Kenneth Widdifield from Destruction Bay on April 8, received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Widdifield, Kenneth tells of his trip and arrival at his new post in the Yukon Territories. Kenneth had accepted a position with the Canadian Telegraph Co. and left Newmarket for Destruction Bay on March 29, travelling by train to Dawson and by bus the remainder of the way.

Ken wrote: "Left Edmonton on the Northern Alberta Railway train, arriving in Dawson Creek the following evening. The following morning we left at 9 o'clock by the B.Y.W. bus and stayed at Fort Nelson that night and the following evening arrived at Watson Lake's 'Tower Post' hotel.

nice—the weather being snowy and the scenery drab. However, from Nelson on it was mountainous country and the weather more cheerful. Arrived at Destruction Bay to find the dust blowing and I was wearing over-shoes! This is a pretty spot with the bay, which is part of Klunne Lake, on one side and mountains on the other, and fairly close another long line of peaks.

"Now, about the station. We have a splendid cook and my sleeping quarters are in the back part of the station. The hunting and fishing around here are dandy. Sam, a bald-headed eagle, just perched on a tree not a rod from the road—never even moved when we passed.

Last week, your scribe reported on the first part of the District Annual meeting of the Women's Institutes in Newmarket. The report continues with the address of Mrs. Hayes from the department of agriculture. Mrs. Hayes brought greetings from the department and said that remembering the hospitality of the district from past experience, she was delighted to again be a recipient of it.

Mrs. Hayes said that the various reports she had heard were fine but that she was distressed by the fact that so many convenors neglected to read theirs in and so listeners did not hear all they should. The delinquency of local secretaries holds up the district secretary, making it impossible for her to close her books, she said, and hoped it would not occur again.

"This is the time for taking stock, for appraising the past and charting the future," she continued. "The conclusion of the war brought home the distressing fact that Utopia has not come in its wake. We cannot help thinking more than ever before of all the things we do not want. As we scan this scene, one fact stands out. Never was there a time when leadership was so vital. We must have leaders we can trust to carry us through the troubled future. Leadership ties in with citizenship and democracy.

"Our standing committee on citizenship should seek to develop a better practise of citizenship and responsible government. An important W.I. work is the discovery and development of leaders. Far too little attention has been paid to this. We must go home and think and do! We have been wrong in our approach to this problem. Leadership is everybody's business. Do not think in terms of what someone else can do—think of you! All cannot be leaders at once, but when your turn comes, take it. For leadership should pass from person to person. All people are not equally gifted but everyone has something to give. Democracy emphasizes the worth of the individual and women must learn to have more confidence in their own ideas.

Publicize Ideas

Each man and woman has ideas of home government—carry these ideas into the community and public affairs. Learn to express your ideas.

You can overcome your nervousness and shaky knees—even if you have to second a motion 500 times before you can make one! Don't be a person who doesn't answer roll-calls and don't wait to polish your words before making a speech if you feel strongly the right words will come. Don't expect to be perfect at first. Concentrate on what you want to say and forget yourself. You'll be criticized. The better your words, the more criticism. Don't say 'I'm too busy' when asked to do something. Learn to put first things first. The outside world needs us all with every talent we possess. We, as members of a democracy, must assume our responsibilities. More women should be in public life. Leadership is not a man's prerogative. Look where men have landed us. Single-mindedness, zeal and loyalty are needed. Let us reconsecrate ourselves to the fulfillment of our motto, 'for home and country'.

It was decided to have a leadership rally. We then adjourned to the Sunday school room for lunch of cold meat, salads, pickles, buttered rolls, pineapple upside-down cake with whipped cream and tea. We were then ready to return to a serious contemplation of our problems. The afternoon session opened with community singing led by Mrs. Colville, accompanied by Mrs. G. Wood, after which came the president's address, which follows:

"Ladies, it is a pleasure to see so many out today, as this is the last day I shall address you as your D.A. president. I want to thank you for your co-operation and although I have made mistakes, you have most generously overlooked them. Our Summer Day was a great success and well attended, with a good display of handicraft shown. King was judged the best display and asked to show it today. The aims of our Institute are (1) To help women acquire sound and improved practise for greater home efficiency; (2) to discover, stimulate and train leaders; (3) to develop a more abundant life in our rural communities and a deeper appreciation of the things near at hand; (4) to develop better and more useful citizens; (5) I wonder what we Institute members can do to help the unrest and strikes in the world today? Are we to blame for any

by "Jack" Smith, M.P. North York

The budget debate concluded at long last and on the division, the government was accorded a substantial majority. Criticism by the opposition dwelt largely on the claim that tax reductions were not large enough, but there was evident a lot of inconsistency when such demands for increased tax reduction came in almost the same breath as demands for increased expenditure. There is not much sense in deploring large expenditures and heavy taxation unless one is prepared to be definite and state just what item of public service or expenditure should be dispensed with. After listening to week-long debates during my short experience as your member, this is, in my opinion, the great weakness of opposition arguments. A government or administration must be practical, and if it extends a service or makes a public expenditure vote, it must raise taxes to pay the bill. Taxes have been reduced this year, and probably there will be further reductions in future years, but looking to the future it is doubtful if taxes in our lifetime will come down to the level of 1939.

The prime minister this week outlined the agenda for the remainder of the session, and the length of the list would indicate that the session will last until mid-July. To speed up the work, the usual Wednesday evening adjournment has been dispensed with, and before long we will be sitting Saturdays.

The house is considering amendments to the Old Age Pension Act, and while the increases are not as generous as we would have liked, it is a step in the right direction and should materially help those receiving the pension. Several changes in the regulations tend to help the pensioners in addition to the increased allowance.

A special committee of the house is busy during this session endeavoring to improve the Election Act. The Chief Electoral Officer for Canada appearing before the committee stated that the cost to the treasury of the last election was $3,500,000.

Another special committee has been set up to consider the advisability of drawing up a Bill of Rights for Canada. The government motion to set up the committee was introduced by massive and eloquent Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of veterans' affairs. The committee will be question of human rights and fundamental freedoms and what steps, if any, it would be advisable to take for the purpose of preserving in Canada respect for and observance of human rights and privileges and fundamental freedoms. It is a heavy assignment to a committee and deliberations will likely continue into future sessions. There are those who think such a Bill of Rights is necessary and desirable, and there are others who argue that there is danger we might be putting freedom in a straight jacket if we attempt to define it in words and incorporate it in our laws.

The postmaster general announced in the house this week that a new four-cent stamp will be issued commemorating the establishment of Canadian Citizenship, and that the new stamp will go on sale July 1, Canada's National Birthday.

Every province in Canada, except Quebec has a divorce court, and the only means of securing a divorce in Quebec is to apply to the dominion parliament. Last session, parliament handled 289 divorce applications and so far this session there have been 406 applications, an all-time high.

In the budget debate, Hon. James G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, referred to the recent ten cent increase in the price of butter. Referring to criticism of the increase, the minister said he wanted to remind "some people who are raising the question today, not only in this house but outside of it, that every consumer in this country owes something to the farmers of Canada because of the fact that throughout the whole war period from 1941 down to the present we have been eating cheaper food in Canada than the people of any other country in the world."

He said that during the transitional period "we should guide the farmer and the consumer back into a sound relationship under which they can deal with one another," and "we shall endeavor to protect both from anyone who tries to take advantage of reasonable supplies either to get his product too cheap or to sell it too high."

Mr. Gardiner said there were $1,500,000 farm dwellers in Canada having taxable incomes of less than $1,500, and he challenged any member to say farmers were not entitled to the present butter price.

YORK JR. FARMERS PICNIC ON JUNE 13

The annual picnic and dance of the York county junior farmers is again being held at Musseman's Lake on Friday, June 13, where the afternoon program of sports will commence at 2 p.m. D.S.T.

As usual the big excitement of the afternoon will be the softball tournament between the six junior farmer clubs with mixed teams of four girls and five boys. A scout will be on hand to look over the players to select boys' and girls' teams to represent the county at the central Ontario field day at the Ontario Agricultural College on Friday, June 27.

The inter-club tug-of-war, which proved so popular last year, together with a number of picnic stunts will complete the afternoon program, except for those who wish to open the bathing season and bask on the beach. The lunches will not be pooled but the various clubs or groups will make up their own tables. Hot or cold drinks will be provided by the association but bring your own cups.

At 9 p.m., the melodies of Glenn Smith's "Merrymakers" will provide dancing pleasure for all present in Cedar Beach Gardens. Altogether, this is the biggest day of the year for the juniors and many of the parents and former junior farmers turn out to see the fun and enjoy the full-time program.

MIAMI COTTAGERS AID YORK HOSPITAL

The Miami Beach Cottagers' Association Saturday presented to Dr. L. W. Dales a cheque for $400 for the York County hospital following a holiday event at the lake.

The program included a fireworks display and presentation of prizes and was held on the lawn of Chas. Cridland, Ross McMillan, former reeve of North Gwillimbury, drew the prize-winning tickets.

J. Donahue of Toronto won the first prize of a $350 lot. Other winners were (in order): Mrs. A. J. Boe, Toronto, sport jacket; Mrs. A. Sawyer, Toronto, purse; Mrs. Locke, Newmarket, giant lighter; Mrs. J. Linstead, Newmarket, side of bacon; Mrs. Wilson, Toronto, comb and brush set; Mrs. J. Piccinni, Toronto, permanent wave; Mrs. K. Dowell, Toronto, back bacon; J. Knights, Toronto, half dozen carnations.

President of the association is Charles Cridland. The committee in charge of the event was Mr. Cridland, Harry Kerr, Joe Piccinni, Jr., John Leeds, Charles Buckman, Tony Battaglia, Bill Patten, and Harold Dunn.

(Continued from page 2) of it? Let us examine ourselves and see where we are failing in our duty to our homes and country. We, in our creed, are told to let 'nothing stain the pleasure sweet or dim the radiant light'. Are we following these directions or have we wandered from the straight path into by-ways and hedges. Let me quote you a few lines, in closing. 'There's a destiny that makes us sisters; None take their way alone; All we send into the lives of others, Comes back into our own.'

The roll-call was well responded to. The report on publicity was given by Mrs. Shultz who regretted, like other convenors, that not all branches furnished reports. The worthwhileness of newspaper advertising was proved; before hand advertising worth while; word of mouth, good; telephoning helps; an afternoon tea is a good thing and also a branch had a radio program.

Mrs. Colville added that friendliness in a community was a good way of advertising. If the members are friendly it affects the whole community.

The federal representative, Mrs. Will McClure, was now called on and brought greetings from the Federated Institute Board. The Institutes were to be congratulated for contributing such a capable lady as Miss Anna Lewis. The board would like to see more take advantage of the opportunities created through the co-operative program. She said children's school lunches are not as a rule adequate, for there is still malnutrition and rickets in a land of plenty. There are two junior Institute members on the board. She spoke of the Tweedsmuir history books and the new Citizenship Act. She said "Home and Country" was not read enough. Past year has been a very busy one and fine publicity given the members.

June 18 will see the 50th anniversary of the Institute at Guelph with many attractions. She also told us that Kindergarten of the Air will start on CBC, I think, in September. New Institute handbooks can be obtained from Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Belleville. She spoke of the cancer fund, the work on the peace garden, food and clothing for Britain. Mrs. Hayes told us that Mrs. McClure, with Miss Lewis and Miss Collins, will represent us at Amsterdam.

Miss Gwen Marchant then sang Bless This House and The Lord's Prayer. Mrs. A. Boyd reported on the federation of agriculture. Past presidents were introduced and those who had died were affectionately remembered. Mrs.

Doane, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. R. Starr, Mrs. Steeper, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Sinclair then told anecdotes of their experiences during their terms of office; of their difficulties in transportation; lapses of memory; the finding of what became the creed and its adoption; of the erection of the hospital. All agreed that there was an immense amount of enjoyment to be had from Institute work. All of them quoted the Archbishop of York as saying 'Peace cannot come without a return to God', and another said, in effect, that 'we give the torch we have carried to the young'.

It was decided to send a note to Mrs. Charles who was kept at home by illness, telling her of our regret of her absence.

Miss Rowe, whose work is with the girls, told of the broadening of their activities and of the joint work of junior Institutes and junior farmers' clubs. Inclusion of girls on the provincial board helps with Institute relations. The girls' work broadens their horizons and makes leaders.

The report on Summary Day prepared by Mrs. McKie was read in her absence by a lady whose name I did not get. A larger hall and more prizes would feature another day. The following officers were elected: hon. presidents, Mrs. James Pearson, Schomberg; Mrs. W. R. Steeper, Mount Albert; Mrs. H. J. Charles, Aurora; past pres, Mrs. John Boak, Schomberg; pres, Mrs. J. E. Baines, Keswick; first vice pres, Mrs. H. H. Corner, Aurora; second vice pres, Mrs. R. Bayeroff, Gormley; third vice pres, Mrs. Reddick, R. R. 3, King; sec-treas, Mrs. Barry Sinclair, Mount Albert; federation representative, Mrs. C. Marchant, Schomberg; agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. Ross Armistage, R. R. 3, Newmarket; home economics, Mrs. Frank Williams, R. R. 3, Newmarket; historical research, Mrs. Albert Hill, Nobleton; citizenship, Mrs. C. Weir, Pefferlaw; social welfare, Mrs. Shultz; federation of agriculture, Mrs. G. Cronsberry, Pefferlaw; publicity, Mrs. A. M. Colville; district representative, Mrs. Baines, Keswick; auditors, Mrs. Macpherson and Mrs. Steeper, Mount Albert; board of directors to be our nominating committee.

The three resolutions re Bang's disease, aid from government for school hot lunches and Sabbath observance more strictly supervised on the lake shore were read by Mrs. VanNostrand and approved.

Mrs. Boak, retiring president, then called on her successor, Mrs. J. E. Baines, for a few words, and here I have a confession to make. I was so interested in what she said I forgot to write it down. But anything that's so good it makes me forget to write is good.

Your scribe moved a vote of thanks to the retiring officers and God Save the King brought to a conclusion a day filled with interest, information and impulse toward even larger interests.

SCHOMBERG UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO R. R. MARCHANT

Schomberg — A beautiful Scriptural window as a memorial to the late Richard Ross Marchant was unveiled by his eldest son, Kenneth, at the morning service in St. Mary Magdalene's Anglican church here on Sunday morning.

It is the tenth memorial window placed in this Schomberg church. The window, bearing the illuminated text, "Behold A Sower Went Forth to Sow," was installed on Thursday by F. B. MacNeill of Toronto. The window inscription reads: "To the Glory of God and in loving memory of Richard Ross Marchant, born Nov. 14, 1906, died May 17, 1945. Erected by his wife, children, parents and sister."

During the service the choir rendered special music. The rector, Rev. F. V. Abbott, supervised the placing of the window which is on the south side of the building.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT DANGEROUS DRIVING CHARGE COSTS $100

Andrew Virag, Bradford, was fined $100 and costs or three months in magistrate's court on Friday when he was convicted of dangerous driving. Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., presided. Virag entered a plea of guilty on the charge, but Magistrate Pritchard persuaded him to change his plea until the evidence was heard.

Constable William Melbourne testified that on May 20 he had been patrolling No. 11 highway and had just entered the limits of the village of Bradford when he observed a car approaching. "It was swerving from one side of the road to the other, and I had to take the shoulder as it approached," Constable Melbourne said. "I turned around and went after it, but the car was veering so much from one side to the other that I was unable to pass until it turned off into the marsh."

"When I finally stopped the car, I saw that the doors were smashed. Virag was driving and he had been drinking. He said he did not know where he had smashed the doors. The handle of his door was missing."

"I took Virag back to Bradford," Constable Melbourne continued. "There was a truck there with its side scraped and there was glass all over the road. I found the handle of the door of Virag's car near the truck. He admitted that the door handle was his but could not remember hitting the truck. He was very much under the influence of liquor."

Virag did not take the stand in his own defence. "The evidence amply supports a conviction," Magistrate Pritchard said. Constable Melbourne said Virag had been up on a similar charge a year ago. "The car was in his wife's name," he said.

"Driving in this condition creates a very serious hazard on the highway," Magistrate Pritchard said. "The fine will be payable forthwith, and the license of the accused will be suspended for three months."

Richard Shaw, Markham, pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in an illegal place. He was fined $15 and costs or one month, and the beer was confiscated. Constable Carl Morton testified that on April 25 he and Constable W. R. Hill had seen a car near Belhaven community hall, had investigated and found five occupants and a case of beer. "They had been drinking," he said. "What you were doing was the preliminary step toward a conviction such as that registered in the Virag case," Magistrate Pritchard warned.

Dan Frolick, R. R. 2, Newmarket, and Leo Smith, Toronto, were each convicted on charges of failure to produce their driver's license and were fined $2.75 and costs. Constable William Andrews laid the charges.

Albert Lesperance, Perkinsfield, pleaded guilty through Chief Constable Ronald Watt

when he was charged by Constable Melbourne with driving a commercial truck which did not have the name and address of the owner printed on the side. He was fined $2 and costs.

An assault charge against Marvin Shannon, Bradford, which had been laid by Allen W. Rogers, Bradford, was withdrawn at the request of the complainant on payment of costs by the complainant.

There's a purpose back of Pontiac!

When you own a Pontiac you can be sure it is deliberately designed and built to give you a certain type of value.

First of all, it is designed to give you fine performance—really fine performance—performance that will give you a thrill every time you take the wheel. This applies to the engine, to the car's roominess and comfort, to its roadability and handling ease.

Yet—Pontiac is also designed to give you economy—to operate inexpensively—to be easy on service—and to last a long, long time. In short, Pontiac is de-

This is always true of Pontiac. So regardless of when you expect to get your next car—make it a Pontiac. It's a wonderful value.

The stack of orders piled up for the new Pontiac are gratifying testimonials to the quality and beauty of this finest of the famous Silver Streaks. Unfortunately, so many orders also mean that many who choose Pontiac must wait. 100 YEARS OF PROGRESS in making Farm Implements

AS LATE AS 1794, wooden moldboards were hewn from tree trunks, and when the first cast-iron plows were made, farmers believed that the cast iron "poisoned the land." Then came lighter weight steel plows. Soon plows were being made in factories at much lower cost than they could be made by the local blacksmith.

Since 1847 when the first Massey plant started producing plows and other farm implements, machine methods have almost completely replaced hand labor on the farm.

Plowing requires more power than any other farm operation. Today on thousands of farms in Canada and throughout the world, Massey-Harris plows drawn by powerful Massey-Harris tractors speed across the fields, enabling the farmer to plow twice the acreage he formerly plowed with a four horse outfit.

And Massey-Harris mowers, binders, combines and other machines handle crops more speedily than would have been thought possible a hundred years ago.

The past century has been one of steady expansion for the Massey-Harris industry. To the farmer it has brought happy release from much of the back-breaking labor connected with farm work.

Today Massey-Harris makes a type of plow for every purpose—walking plows, tractor plows, disc plows.

Welsh Woman Writes Thanks For Personal Parcel Plan

Newmarket—A letter written by Mrs. Hilda Barrett, Cardiff, South Wales, England, was received by Mrs. Lillian Thompson, Newmarket, on May 5. The letter was mailed on May 5 in reply to a parcel and letter received from a group of Newmarket ladies under the Personal Parcel Plan. The letter read in part:

"I am writing on behalf of Mrs. Belcher, who was indeed surprised to receive your letter and lovely parcel which arrived quite safely in good condition on May 3. We very much appreciate your kindness in sending it to us. Yes, we have had a pretty hard winter and are still going through a very trying and difficult time, but we hope everything will turn out alright in the end."

"We would like very much to know how you came by our name and address, for we feel sure there is some mistake regarding the name of Mrs. Belcher being a war widow. She is, in fact, happily married and an old age pensioner. Mr. Belcher being 80 this month and Mrs. Belcher 77."

Mrs. Caroline Edwards Home-School President

Newmarket—Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards was named as president for the coming year at the annual meeting of the Home and School Association which was held at the King George school on Tuesday evening, May 27.

Did you ever stop to recall topics of conversation after a group of you has been sitting around a table sewing for missions or for Red Cross, or other causes. If you take a few minutes to recall what was said, you might think you were all extremely erudite.

We are not really so very learned—we don't pretend to be. We like fun as well as the next one. We love to laugh, for it does indeed help any kind of monotonous work—such as you often get in sewing circles—and sprightly conversation keeps things from growing too dry.

This week I just want to recall one topic that created quite a bit of fun, quite unexpectedly, for you never know just what even one small word may lead to. I happened to mention a high silver gray cat that adopted us last fall, and was telling of his cute tricks. Then, after a pause, I said: "Isn't it queer how one little word can change everything?" Someone said laughing: "Now what are you going to tell us?" So I explained that if you call a person a pretty pussy-cat, or a kitten they'd fairly purr, but change it to an "old cat" and they'd scratch your eyes out.

Of course we all chuckled and went on sewing—then first one, and then another, added her two cents' worth, and we banded words round that table till we were all dizzy! One suggested the difference in calling one a chicken or an old hen. Another elaborated on dog, and we all joined in "a gay dog." Nobody objects to that but to call a man just a dog, oh dear me! Yes we must be related to our animal friends pretty closely for it is surprising how dumb animal qualities are attributed to us humans. "Slly as a fox," and to call a man a wolf are doubtful compliments. "Timid as a rabbit at the feeding trough, but to be

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Danny's Problem

Danny is ten years old. He was found guilty of petty thievery among members of his own family. Unknown to Danny, his parents have missed small change from time to time. They didn't want to accuse him without absolute proof, even though their suspicions were well-founded. Danny's weekly allowance wouldn't account for even half the money he was spending—treating the neighborhood gang. He had acquired and was thoroughly enjoying his status as the "little big shot."

When questioned about the treats he was always buying, Danny just said he spent all his allowance on them. He did that and then some. However, there was no point in making a young liar out of him by pinning him down—until some facts could be produced.

One Friday afternoon, Aunt Marie, Cousin Florence and Cousin Jennie were visiting Danny's mother. It was pre-arranged that each guest should count her money and leave it, in her purse, on mother's dresser upstairs. When Danny came home from school, mother was to send him upstairs to get money from her purse in the top dresser drawer.

The results of that scheme netted Danny $3.80. Each lady had weekend shopping money in her purse so Danny had an opportunity to do some serious pilfering. Nevertheless, he was satisfied with just a small remuneration from each purse. If the money hadn't been purposely counted previously, it would never have been missed.

Danny Told of Losses

By Saturday evening, the family had decided to tell Danny how much money he had taken from each of them, to explain that they wanted to do some shopping on Monday, and to give him a chance to return it before then.

The situation was well considered and handled so carefully that Danny had no opportunity to lie about taking the money. Neither was he held in disgrace. He said he didn't know they wanted to use the money and he really was sorry he couldn't give it back but he didn't have

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Barber, Toronto, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Ruth Marie, to Robert Carl Moorhead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Moorhead, Mount Albert. The marriage will take place June 21 at 7 p.m. in Daventry United church, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller Brown, Roche's Point, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Edna Marie, to William Henry Vernon, Toronto, the wedding to take place in Christ church, Roche's Point, June 21, at 3 p.m.

The engagement is announced of Elizabeth Mair, daughter of Mrs. Mair, Newmarket, and the late Mr. Archibald Mair, to George Kenack, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kenack, Montreal, the marriage to take place Saturday, June 21, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at 5 o'clock.

it because he bought the gang a bunch of tickets for the children's matinee and then treated them with sodas afterwards.

At this juncture, Danny was impressed with the fact that money belongs to people just as their clothes and other possessions. How would he like it if someone took his bicycle and lost it, for example? Immediately Danny felt obligated to give back the money he had taken. He said he would pay with his allowance each week for the next two months. The family had a much better idea—he could earn the money: $2.00 for renting his bicycle to Cousin Florence and Cousin Jennie for a week; $1.80 for helping Aunt Marie six afternoons after school during the next two weeks, cutting grass, trimming around the hedges and trees, and working in the garden.

It was understood that, in the future, Danny was to honestly earn the money he needed before spending it.

This whole episode has a very happy ending. Danny became so interested in Aunt Marie's garden that he started one of his own. These days he spends his allowance on seeds and plants. Danny, no longer, has to buy attention. Unconsciously, he earns the respect and admiration of many friends, young and old, through his garden.

Instead of becoming a juvenile delinquent, Danny is a fine little gardener, honestly absorbed in a very creditable undertaking.

Crochets Without Glasses, Mrs. Mary J. Lawson 90 Yrs.

Living in Mount Albert is a woman of remarkable faculties in the person of Mrs. Mary J. Lawson who celebrated her 90th birthday on May 24. Born in Howich, Queen's bush, near Camp Borden, she lived with her parents until she was able to work out on odd jobs. She claims that she could turn her hand to almost any kind of work in those days.

Despite her age, Mrs. Lawson has all her faculties, and her hearing and eyesight have not faltered. She reads and does most of her work without glasses, and when it comes to crocheting, she has no rivals. She does this work without glasses and offers in return a finished article of highest quality. She can hear quite well and is amused by the way people feel "they must shout, expecting me to be a bit deaf."

"My husband and myself sit mostly in our room," she says. "We watch the cars and look for the bus which my son, Ken, drives every day. The main reason for people not living so long these days," she says, "is the fast pace of living. In our day, we took it slower and got there just the same."

Mrs. Lawson says that she met her husband in Holland Landing and "we married in February, 1878. In all these years, we have never had a quarrel, not like these modern days. I think that has a lot to do with living to a ripe old age."

"We are looking forward to celebrating our 70th wedding anniversary next year," said Mrs. Lawson. "And we expect to enjoy a few more years yet."

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson have five daughters and three sons living. Ken, Lawson, a son, is well known in the district as driver on the Mount Albert-Toronto run.

After the ceremony, the couple returned to Mount Albert where a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Following the reception, the couple left on a short honeymoon.

Use Tractor for Roller Work continues in preparing the park for Sports Day. Monday afternoon saw a novel means of rolling the park grounds.

Russel Harrison, who runs the tractor engines for threshing, has removed the cleats from the wheels of his tractor to give a flat surface. "The wheels cover about 35 inches at a time when rolling straight," says Mr. Harrison.

New Bus In Use On Sunday, one of the Hollinger bus line's newest 36-seat coaches arrived in Mount Albert. Ken, Lawson, the driver, said that the company hopes to have both new buses on the Mount Albert run. "On Sports Day, we expect to put out our best buses," he says. "After a long day of excitement, they can return home in comfort and look forward to next year with pleasure."

BIG TOURIST SEASON AHEAD!

THE THOMPSONS are busy as bees, getting their place in shape for the tourist season. This year, with three more cabins, electricity and a modernized kitchen, they hope to do even better than before.

They were able to make these additions because last fall Mr. Thompson drove to town to see his bank manager. He knew about the nice little business the Thompsons had built up; a bank loan was quickly arranged.

Now the Thompsons can handle more tourists and increase their income. At the same time Canada will benefit from the extra tourist dollars they take in.

THIS IS ONE INSTANCE of how Canada's 3,200 branch banks play their part in the daily life and work of Canadians.

Impressive Ritual Attached To Presentation Of Colors

Newmarket—The presentation of the colors by the town of Newmarket to the Newmarket Veterans' Association on Friday evening, May 30, promises to be an impressive ceremony.

Arrangements have been completed for about 60 members of the Canadian Corps Color party from Toronto together with representatives from Bradford, the Newmarket council and the Newmarket Veterans' Association to meet at the Dug-Out at 8.30 on Friday evening and then proceed to the arena where the official presentation will be held," says Wm. Andrews.

The Canadian Corps Color party is under the leadership of R.S.M. Eddie Baker and Jack Beaton, Toronto.

Rev. Henry Cotton will perform the services of consecration of the colors. Capt. Aubrey Davis, the honorary president of the Newmarket branch, will receive the colors from the mayor, Joseph Vale.

"The colors of a unit," states Mr. Andrews, "are symbolic of duty—the watchword of an army. The first color, duty to our sovereign and our country, the Union Jack; the second color, duty to our unit, the corps flag. The cord which hangs from the first color symbolizes the tie that binds the Empire, while the cord of the second color ties the corps flag to the Empire. The tassels of these cords denote the significance of the oath of obedience."

"The bass drum, which will be used in the presentation of these colors, was used by the Newmarket 23rd B.T.C. and on the shell of the drum are recorded the names of the bandmen who were stationed at Newmarket camp," he said. "This drum has seen over 35 years' service."

AURORA UNITED WEDDING SCENE

Standards of all white flowers decorated Aurora United church May 23 when Elizabeth Munro, daughter of Mrs. Wilcox and the late Mr. James Dudley Wilcox of Aurora, became the bride of Lawrence David Woodruff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Counsell Woodruff of Hamilton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Roy Hicks, and Mr. Iltyd Harris was at the organ throughout the service.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. F. A. Gardner of Traverse City, Michigan, the bride wore a portrait gown of palest blush ivory satin fashioned with a moulded basque and sweeping circular skirt continuing into a full length train. The bodice was inset with a deep drop-shoulder sheer tulle yoke, encrusted with clusters of leaves of fine French lace beaded in seed pearls and brilliants. Her full-length veil of blush ivory tulle illusion was caught to her head with a lace mantilla, and she carried a crescent bouquet of white clarkia, lily of the valley and gardenias. The bride's attendants were frocked in cascade green crepe, with picture brims of lace. Their bouquets were of coral clarkia, roses and sweet peas. Vivian Wilcox, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mary Griffith and Rosamond Mills, all of Toronto. James Austin of Chapeau attended the groom and the ushers were Hal Logan of Niagara, Douglas McCallum and Don Irving, both of Hamilton.

The reception was held in the gardens of the bride's mother, who received her guests wearing a gown of willow grey crepe, accented with cinnamon gloves. Her hat was of ivory roses misted with cinnamon tulle, and on her purse was a spray of ivory roses with coral sweet peas. Mrs. Woodruff had chosen a gown of peach-bud jersey, with a small flowered hat in matching tones. Her corsage was of pansies and sweet peas.

Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip, the bride travelling in an ensemble of navy blue bengaline accented with white, a matching stitched beret, and navy blue accessories with a spray of white iris on her purse. Upon their return the bride and groom will make their home in Toronto.

LIBRARY CORNER

By Mrs. Nelson Ion

Reading may, in a relatively short period, furnish the child with a supply of knowledge which would otherwise come only as a result of long experience. The insatiable curiosity of childhood carried into the field of reading results in the universal interest in biographies. The juvenile section of the Newmarket Public Library with its full shelves is a ready source of such interesting material which include George Carver, Boy Scientist; Ben Franklin, Printer's Boy, both by Augusta Stevenson, and When They Were Children by Amy Steedman.

The stories of famous artists, musicians and scientists hold a great appeal for children as well as adults. He Conger's Death, the story of Frederick Grant Banting by Margaret Mason Shaw, is written for boys and girls.

The authoress has a country doctor, Dr. Fraser, tell the story to his son, Andy, and a group of boys. This book reveals banting, not only as the successful scientist who with his colleagues discovered the insulin treatment, but it also pictures Banting as the shy but friendly man who enjoyed the out-of-doors and found time to complete over 200 paintings during his busy life. The authoress, who worked under Dr. Banting for 11 years, gives an accurate and faithful portrayal of one of Canada's most famous sons.

Mozart the Wonder Boy, by Opal Wheeler and Sybil Deucher, the story of Wolfgang Mozart, who at three played the piano without instruction and at five wrote the Minuet in G, is fascinatingly told. This book, with its 25 full pages of Mozart music and its delightful illustrations, promises a wonderful time for the music-loving child. However, the happy recounting of the life of Wolfgang who loved music more than anything else in the world and his sister, Nannerl, will be enjoyed by all youngsters.

In The Story Behind Great Books by Elizabeth Ryder Montgomery, young readers will learn how Oliver Goldsmith, a light-hearted failure at everything he tried, used his masterpiece, The Vicar of Wakefield, to pay his rent and thus saved himself from the debtors' prison and how a gentle Quaker girl, Anne Sewell, who had been an invalid most of her life, gave Black Beauty to the world because of her great love of horses. Frequently we wonder under what circumstances a book was written and are curious to know the story of the writer himself who has created such favorite fictional characters as Tom Sawyer, Pinocchio, Alice in Wonderland and others. This book is the answer to these questions.

Read the ads in the Era and Express.

On Friday evening, May 23, the residents of Holland Landing turned out in full force to honor Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sheppard, Miss Dorothy Sheppard and Mr. Fred Sheppard who are shortly leaving the village to live in Newmarket. A successful farewell party and dance was held at the school. Music was supplied by M. Mitchell and his son, George, for both modern and square dancing. Midway in the evening H. Draper read the official address to the Sheppards in recognition of their contribution to community life. A beautiful floor lamp was then presented and Miss Dorothy Sheppard received a lovely silver compact. Mr. Stanley Sheppard replied graciously on behalf of himself and his family. Refreshments were then served and dancing resumed.

The address, which represents the sentiments of the village, is printed below:

"This is an occasion for which it is difficult to find words. After so many years in Holland Landing, the Sheppards are much more than old friends. They are really a part of the Landing itself and as familiar to us all as the anchor. Now that the time for parting draws near, we realize what a gap it will leave in the daily life of the community. They have lived quietly amongst us for so long that their value to us lies far deeper than in any surface qualities.

"Mrs. Sheppard has always taken an active part in community and church work. If it lay within her ability to help any one of us or to lighten the burden in time of trouble, she spared neither time nor thought. In any village emergencies it was to her we turned, and her sympathy and common-sense smoothed the path for many of us. If we asked for advice she gave it to us, if we didn't ask for advice and she thought we needed it, she gave it to us anyway. All of which we appreciated perhaps more than she realizes. She has kept a motherly eye on the young fry and as they grow older they will remember with gratitude, as we do, the help she gave them to start them on their way as good Canadians. During the war she worked tirelessly and spurred us on to greater efforts for the Red Cross and the Navy League. In fact the success of the Landing's war effort was largely due to her unceasing energy. There are many more reasons why we think so much of Mrs. Sheppard but it would take a book to record them.

"It is hard to imagine the store and post office without 'Shep.' Through the difficult years of the war and the post-war period, he has been a tower of strength. In spite of shortages and lack of goods, he has always managed to keep us supplied. More important still is his ready humor and his ready tongue. No matter how gloomy world conditions might be, he was good for a much-needed smile. His understanding of human nature is deep and his observations well worth listening to. He knows everyone for miles around and newcomers find his memories of the good old days intensely interesting. His honesty and his ability to call a spade a spade have earned for him the respect and affection of all. Among his most sincere admirers are the children of the village with whom he always has time to play. We believe that our store and post office is unique in its friendly and informal atmosphere and we shall miss the man and his family that made it so.

"Many of us have watched Dot Sheppard grow up and we have enjoyed her brightness and her energy. We know that she is well prepared for whatever may lie ahead. She takes with her our most sincere wishes for a happy and good life. The best of everything to you, Dot!

"There is one other member of the Sheppard family to whom we wish to pay our respects for we have long known him as a kindly friend with a cheery word for everyone. This is Mr. Fred Sheppard who, in his capacity as post master, has always been most helpful in business matters and most neighborly as a villager. It will be queer indeed to go down the road and see his little cottage standing empty.

"There just isn't money enough in the world to buy the Sheppards a farewell gift which would adequately express our affection for them. But we know that they will accept this gift in the spirit in which it is offered. We are glad that you are moving no farther away than Newmarket and we hope that you will visit us often—in fact, we wish that the sign, 'Back in ten minutes,' we sometimes see on the store door were true."

Baby Christened In Church Erected By Forebears

St. George's church on Lake Simcoe near Sutton was built in memory of Mrs. Thomas Sibbald who came from Scotland to Canada in 1835. In that church Sunday her great-great-grandson, Robin Henry Sibbald Munro, was christened.

The baby's father, Major H. S. Munro, had been christened in the church and it was also the scene of the marriage of Major Munro and Mrs. Munro in 1941. Rev. P. G. Powell, rector, officiated as he had at the wedding six years before. The baby wore the family christening robes. He was the fifth generation to do so.

Godparents of little Robin are his aunt, Miss Margaret Munro; a great-uncle, E. B. Vandewate, Toronto, and Major Francis Hett, Escher, Surrey, England, who was represented by Everest Munro, Toronto, an uncle.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Munro and Mrs. George H. K. Mitford, all of Toronto, were present in the large company of relatives and family friends who attended. Mrs. George B. Munro gave a tea at Eldon hall, Lake Simcoe, following the ceremony.

Last Rites In Toronto For Mrs. O. B. Sheppard

Funeral services for Mrs. O. B. Sheppard, who died Friday at her home, Russell Hill Rd., Toronto, were held Monday. She was the widow of a former manager of the Princess theatre.

The former Julia Isabelle Montgomery, she was a member of one of Toronto's oldest families and was the granddaughter of the owner of Montgomery's Tavern, the meeting place of the rebels in 1837. She was born at Sharon and educated in Toronto public schools and Jarvis collegiate.

Mrs. Sheppard was the oldest member of the board of the Children's Aid Society, was a member of the United Empire Loyalists, the Women's Historical Society, the Army and Navy Veterans and the I.O.G.E. She was keenly interested in the York Pioneers and Historical Society. Mrs. Sheppard was a member of St. John's Garrison church.

A daughter, Mrs. Frank Johnston; a son, C. B. Sheppard, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Oscar G. Clark, survive. Entombment was in Mount Pleasant mausoleum.

SHIP THREE BOXES

Newmarket—The members of St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary sewing group packed and shipped three 10-lb. boxes of food for overseas, in addition to their regular Red Cross sewing at their meeting on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Johnston Buried In Newmarket

Resident of Pine Orchard for the past 26 years, Mrs. Robert W. Johnston died May 15 at York County hospital where she had been a patient for two weeks. Mrs. Johnston was in her 80th year.

She was the former Rebecca Chrysler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Chrysler of Uxbridge. Fifty-five years ago she married Robert W. Johnston of Quaker Hill who predeceased her just four months ago. To them five children were born, Alma (Mrs. Fair), deceased; Jean of Toronto; Harold of Uxbridge; Edson and Walter of Pine Orchard. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Wm. McNeil of Uxbridge, and eight grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose, Newmarket, May 19, with interment in Newmarket cemetery. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. N. Rowan, taking as his text, Phil. 1:21, a favorite passage of the deceased.

TWO PLAYS FINISH DRAMA CLUB SEASON

By GOLDEN GLOW

Newmarket — Last week the Newmarket Dramatic club presented two one-act plays which ended the season, and while no doubt the cast all heaved a sigh of relief, the audience heaved a sigh of regret for it is a long time until autumn to wait for the next play. Certainly the dramatic club has done a wonderful work in entertainment, but naturally with Daylight Saving, and warm nights in the offing, plays are hard to stage, so we must just entertain ourselves otherwise till cooler weather returns.

We must first congratulate the club on the acquisition of the orchestra that has given us so much added enjoyment. Their musical numbers have been thoroughly appreciated. When we consider the musical ability of Newmarket citizens added to their dramatic ability, we should congratulate ourselves. It has all meant a good deal of self-sacrifice on the part of the members, who have given up so much time for our entertainment. We hope they have enjoyed it too.

I have enjoyed writing a little account of each month's play, and trying, in this small way, to express my appreciation, and, with all the rest who, too, have enjoyed each play, I will be watching eagerly for the first play of the autumn season next October.

Last week's first play, Bright and Glorious, derived its title from the words of an old-time song, "Cheer, boys, cheer, our cause is Bright and Glorious." This was the play presented at Hart House when the club entered in the Central Ontario Drama League festival. The act centered around one player and she did her part magnificently! If she had faltered the whole play would have suffered—but never once did she hesitate—she carried it triumphantly through to the finish. That player was Mrs. Mair Jackson, who took the part of the grandmother. Velma Thompson as the daughter, and Agnes Graham as granddaughter were perfect in their roles.

The second play, Husbands

Beware, was a riot from first to last. It was in two acts—but nothing was said in the second act—their mouths were too full! You see it was an all feminine cast in the first act, where the married women are having a meeting to devise ways and means of getting their husbands to attend the regular meetings. They represented various nationalities found in some small communities, and each member took her part to perfection. Dina Dooberry, the colored member, was a scream, and her laughter was so contagious that every one of us in the hall was laughing with her till our sides fairly ached. If I start telling all about the fun of Husbands Beware Mr. Editor won't have room in next week's issue for much else. But I must tell you why there was nothing said in the second act—the women decided after several calls on the phone from the different husbands, that the only way to get them there was to have "eats." The second act showed the joint meeting and was it ever funny for they were all eating as hard as they could! In fact when the orchestra played "The King" they hadn't any voice to sing.

The audience was delighted when at the close Mr. Ken Flett, the chairman, presented Mrs. Dorothy Bowman and Mr. Charles Boyd with intriguing looking gift boxes, for certainly they conducted the two plays wonderfully. The orchestra and the cast enjoyed a social hour afterwards.

The North York GARDENER

By JOHN DALY
Vice President, Newmarket
Horticultural Society

Concluding our list of suggestions for a perennial border, we have the Rheinlander, a Salmon rose with crimson eye, 2 1/2', July to August;

Phlox Subulata: Very desirable for the edge of the border. They grow 4-6 inches high. Here are a few named varieties, flowering in May to June, Alba, white; Rosea, pink; Silver Star, pale silvery pink; Atropurpurea, red; The Bride, white with pink eye;

Another family I want to mention is Phlox Suffruticosa because it contains the variety called Miss Lingard. It grows 2-3' high but blooms earlier than the other tall phlox. Blooms June to July and the flowers are white. One more favorite plant I must mention is Teteloma or red hot poker. It is not really hardy but the plants are easily stored in a cool basement over the winter. They grow 2-3', and flower July to August. There are many other hardy perennials but a selection made from this list should result in a beautiful border.

R. C. MORRISON NAMED RECREATION HEAD

Newmarket — R. C. Morrison was named as chairman of the newly-formed Newmarket Recreation Commission at the first meeting on May 20. Ted Gould, representative of the separate school board, will act as deputy-chairman and J. B. Walker will be the secretary-treasurer with a paid assistant. Fred. Hall and Mrs. N. L. Mathews represent the public school board with Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards and Mr. Morrison representing the town council so that these four members are elected by the municipality.

G. A. Crutcher and Mr. Walker were elected to the commission by last year's recreation council, bringing the total membership to seven.

Letters to the editor are always welcome.

Terry Grant Crowder, one year old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Crowder. Mrs. Crowder arrived in Halifax September 18 from Manchester, England.

DOWN THE CENTRE

By AB HULSE

NEGLECTED NOTES AT RANDOM

Our apologies for the past couple of columns—pressure of business and lack of space have been responsible, so we feel like singing zippity-zoo-da as we see a chance to make up for lost time and pass on to you something of the things we want to tell you about. Leonard Simmons, chairman of the Aurora Lions sports program, has been hounding us to announce that Aurora Ladies' Softball club will practise each Monday and Thursday night at the town park. Miss Joyce Foote, manager of the Aurora Amche depot, is playing coach and might be adept at softball, they tell me. Miss Marjorie McIntosh, the Aurora V.O.N. nurse, is manager and, confidentially, if any male wants the position of coach, contact Del Babcock or Simmons. The girls will play in a league with Stouffville, Unionville and Markham and will sometime during the year tangle with the more experienced Newmarket club.

Holland Landing and Maple Hill are new entries in the Lake Simcoe softball circuit which met Monday night to get things organized. Ivan Eves and Howard Morton are the guiding spirits.

Bill Boaks wants to warn all the golfers in the district who play at the Highlands that they must qualify the next two Sundays if they want to see action in the Jarvis (scratch), Leacock (handicap) and Tip Top (century) events. It'll be eight in the scratch and century and sixteens in the handicap.

Wonder how many Newmarket folks remember Carl Lawson? Carl used to live in Newmarket when his father was employed at Munshaw's. Then he became interested in racing as a rider and trainer. Now he's an owner and had Victory Chimes running in the King's Plate last Saturday. The filly ran out of the money but she was coupled with Burbox from the Bur-Fit stables in an entry which paid off nicely for second. Watch Wreck didn't win the Plate but if he hadn't had that sore hoof, he'd have done the trick. I betcha, I betcha! Came from no place to finish third.

Don Willson, ye olde Newmarket hockeyist and a smoothie on the lacrosse cushion with Aurora juniors, Bradford and Orillia, has signed with Mimico Mountaineers and will see plenty of action. By the same token, Fat James, another Bradford boy who received some raw treatment with Mimico last year, will also get a chance to show his stuff. A change of coaches brought "Jesse" back into the fold. Bob Benville took ninth prize in the 25-mile hill and dale High Park race on Saturday in a field of 75 riders. Robert looked mighty good over the tortuous course. Cliff Heath, Aurora, and Orla Larsen, Newmarket, two of the most promising younger riders of the district, were entered and were going nicely until "flats" forced them to the sidelines. Jack Offord, backer of the Aurora Cycling club, has his boys readying for a five-mile road race in early June, points to count, for the Dawson trophy. Confidentially, there is a big chance that Newmarket Canadian Legion will steal a real tidbit for their big show on July 1, none other than the Dominion Cycling championships, and if we know anything about it, Dr. Carl VanderVoort and Gordy Ough will hardly let that one get away. Ossie and Herbie Carnegie, the two colored hockeyists, pulled into Hamilton last week from the Quebec circuit and they'll be in action next winter with the Tigers. Along with them came Manny McIntyre, the third dark cloud forward to complete the only all-negro line in hockey. The Carnegie boys hail from Willowdale and Ossie used to play lacrosse for Thornhill juniors.

Hocus-Focus Miller, the big first sacker from Markham who plays for Stouffville, stands 6' 6" in his sock feet and undoubtedly holds the beanpole record in the junior circuit. Miller, who can do a fair chore on the mound as well, can really whack the horsehide and a few lessons in fielding would put him on the way to a baseball career. Yorky Smith, the Stouffville mentor, has gathered together a smart club this year with the amalgamation of Stouffville, Markham and Milliken and with Rows, Shpelman, Schell, Miller and Raxlin all capable of taking a turn on the mound, appears to have the top flight hurling staff in these parts.

Junior hockey rivalry revives in another form this year as the boys drop their sticks and pick up a baseball club. Stouffville has Campbell, Jennings, Jewitt, Minton and Sellers of its hockey club in action and with them are Petch and Wilson, Markham juniors. Aurora has Ron Simmons, Loring Doolittle, Norm Nigh, Jack Andrews, Eric Smith and Bill McGhee from the hockey team, along with Mac Clement from Richmond Hill who played hockey with the Square last winter. George Haskett has pukechases Ken Broughton, Bob Walker, Motts Thoms, Jim Rutledge, Ivan Gibson ready to face the barrier. Andrews, Clement and Thoms played basketball as well as hockey all winter. The Stouffville club, by the way, spent over $400 for uniforms this year. Grant Nighswander, the Markham-Richmond Hill impresario, is handling the Richmond Hill midget and bantam clubs and reports such interest in both centres in the bantam age that four-club leagues could be formed without any difficulty. "Can't handle them all but we do our best," beamed the burly Nighswander. "It won't be long until you fellows up north can really look to your laurels in the baseball world and you can't import our players forever either." Intermediate ball is rumored for Stouffville and if so, Newmarket will probably follow suit. There are a good many fellows just over the age limit and many more who had their ball career interrupted by war service and of course there are always the perennial veterans who never know when they're finished. Put them all together and you have an intermediate ball club. There are one or two in action in the junior series, too, who are possibly just over the border edge by way of age but nobody objects to it. Ceegears McDonald has signed Jimmy Hodgins and Johnny Eustace to handle the bat-boy jobs again and "Mac" says his worries are over so far as equipment is concerned. The two youngsters do a grand job. Young Jimmy comes by his love of sports honestly for his dad, Vincent Hodgins, was one of the finest lacrosse players in these parts about the time we were the same size as Jimmy. "Slogie" played goal for Aurora, Newmarket, Bradford and Maitland seniors in his day and it took a mighty good home player to beat him. I can still see those long legs galloping out on the green sward to beat an opposing player to a loose ball and feed it speedily out of danger.

Getting back to lacrosse, a few days ago we ran across Art Doddemede at North Bay. Art played juvenile and junior lacrosse for Newmarket and also some hockey in the 20's and then went to Oshawa and Brampton to turn in some sparkling senior performances. He's a salesman in the north for a Brampton firm and has done pretty well in the business world. Met a lot of fine fellows up north including Brit Jessup who succeeded Ralph Adams as sports editor of the North Bay Nugget and rates as the north's premier sports scribe. Tubby Boyer who played for Newmarket camp in the mercantile series in 1946, Shep Mayer, former Leafs protege who is playing both hockey and softball in the Bay, the Palangio brothers and many others. The city is all excited about its new artificial plant to be built this year. Those who are behind the project really put on a great publicity campaign and sold the idea to most people in the community. From now on the Bay will be a power in northern hockey in place of exporting its players all over Ontario.

Red Castles, Aurora, has done a fine job of drumming up enthusiasm for an Aurora softball club and he has received commendable backing from those along Main St., although the boys still need uniforms. They intend to play here on Wednesdays. Charlie Case will once again don the mask and shooting the big apple at him will be a newcomer, Andy O'Neill, well known in the north part of the county. Ed Tidman and Morley Cook are also expected to be on hand. O'Neill is said to be plenty good and he's employed at Collis Leather. Norm Goodhead, former R.C.O.C. first sacker, and Ace Yake are available for first base or the outfield and Bill Gilkes, back in Aurora sports again, is working smoothly at second. The White brothers, Raymond and Wilfred, will hold down third and short respectively and that needs no comment. Mikey Sutton heads the fly-shagging brigade which will also include Earl McDonald, Jim Emmons, Bill Mundell, Red Castles and one or two others. The lads are deserving of support and although they may get off to a late start, their enthusiasm augurs well for the season. Several baseballers are said to be flirting with the idea of doubling in softball as well. The league set-up will be virtually the same as last year with Richmond Hill replacing the Thornhill entry. Ho hum, wonder what's wrong with Doug May, Bert Ward and company. Haven't heard a word from them on softball. That also goes for league secretary Charlie Atkinson. John Mabley will likely call the balls and strikes for the Hill this year since he won't be playing owing to an arm injury. Lou Murphy, principal of Stouffville high school, did a nice bit of umpiring in the Aurora vs. Stouffville series on the holiday and had the confidence of the players and fans. He'll rate as tops in the circuit on his showing.

Aurora Takes Two Close Games From Stouffville

Aurora Lions junior baseball club scored two hairbreath wins on the holiday over Stouffville juniors. In the afternoon they journeyed to Stouffville to take a 3-2 win over the homesters, and in a twilight fixture before a large crowd at Aurora, they came home in front 4-3 in a spectacular finish.

At Stouffville Ronnie Simmons worked six innings, giving up only one hit. Southpaw, Norm Stunden worked the other two frames and yielded four hits. Aurora's big splurge was in the third inning when they garnered all their runs, Keith Kyle and Loring Doolittle providing the fireworks. Actually, Stouffville out-hit the Aurora lads 5-4, and Aurora made three errors to Stouffville's singleton but smart base-running and timely hitting counted. "Porky" Schell was on the mound for Stouffville but retired in favor of "Speedy"

Shpelman who silenced the Aurora bats. "Lefty" Jack Andrews pitched a sweet game at Aurora holding Stouffville to five hits and never being behind. Stouffville came from behind in the top half of the seventh to score two runs and knot the game 3-3. With two out in the last of the seventh, "Ozark Ike" Doolittle hit safely, and Ron Simmons followed with a ringing triple that won the game. Kyle and Clement played outstanding ball for Aurora. Stouffville used Orval Rows, Shpelman and Schell in an effort to win.
